

I will give an overview of some recent developments concerning the cosmic censorship conjectures in general relativity and formulate some open problems that may be tractable in the near (and not so near) future.