

Title: Global optimization with particle systems

Abstract: We discuss recent developments in the use of interacting particle systems for solving high-dimensional optimization problems, and provide insights into analytical guarantees for convergence in the particle mean-field regime.