Matrix Analysis in Action

John Urschel
Harvard University

In this talk, I will give a brief discussion of my experiences, both personal and academic, in my research career, followed by a brief overview of matrix analysis, as well as some of my interests within the field. Finally, I will present a recent result regarding the spread of symmetric non-negative matrices.