

Talk Title: Digits

Abstract: A low-brow area in number theory is to consider problems based on the digits of a number. However, there has been some highly nontrivial and interesting work involving digits. This talk will survey some of these problems and results.